Financial performance

In accordance with the guidance issued by the Public Accountants and Auditors Board (PAAB), the Company applied International Accounting Standard 29 - Financial Reporting in Hyperinflationary Economies (IAS 29), in the preparation of the financial statements and adopted the consumer price index (CPI) as published by the Zimbabwe Central Statistical Office since the introduction of the Zimbabwe Gold currency on 5 April 2024. The financial performance review is based on hyper-inflation adjusted financial statements which are the primary financial statements. Historical cost financial statements have been presented as supplementary information. The Directors caution users of the financial statements on the usefulness of these reported financial statements, considering distortions that arise when reporting in a hyperinflationary economy.

During the financial period under review, the company delivered improved financial performance driven by increased product mix and customer activations. The company recorded a profit after tax margin in Hyperinflationary terms of 15.5% (Historical cost 28.6%), which is a positive performance compared to prior year losses. The balance sheet also significantly improved in historical cost terms despite the slight decline in hyperinflationary terms.

Outlook

Looking ahead, leveraging innovation and deepening AI infusion into our operations to enhance operational and cost efficiencies will position the ~~Company~~ ^{we} to grow, diversify our product and service offering and drive revenue growth whilst protecting our margins.

The ~~Company~~ ^{we} will continue to make investments in digital transformation, embracing new technologies and actively pursuing strategic opportunities to enhance and complement our product portfolio.
